Dear Administrator Dickson,

I urge the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) to quickly release the Airport Improvement Program (AIP) grant for the Scottsdale Airport in Scottsdale, Arizona, for its runway rehabilitation project.

In April, the Scottsdale Airport was awarded an AIP grant for its runway rehabilitation project; however, the award fell short of the funds necessary to complete this important project. The Phoenix and Regional FAA offices were able to identify additional funds to address the shortfall and a request to combine the funds and reissue the AIP grant has been submitted to the Office of Secure Transportation. With construction slated to begin on July 6, it is important the grant is reissued expeditiously in order to allow the airport to complete the pre-construction items necessary to begin construction on time.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this request.

Sincerely,
